

A bad day is weather, not a verdict.

Your week

Mostly clear

One storm. Passing.

Mon

Did the thing

Tue

Did the thing

Wed

Everything went wrong

Thu

Back at it, kinder

Fri

Still going

Be kind to yourself on the stormy day. Keep the same standard tomorrow.

SAME STANDARD. DIFFERENT VOICE.

How you talk to yourself decides tomorrow.

After a bad day, being kind keeps the standard and drops the insult. That's what gets people back.

× THE HARSH VOICE

~~"I always ruin it. Why do I even bother?"~~

→ you avoid tomorrow

✓ THE KIND VOICE

"Today was hard.
Tomorrow, one small thing."

→ you come back

🔄 Swipe for tonight's note

2 / 4 · PHASR

TONIGHT · 2 MINUTES

Write the note you'd send a friend.

Three lines. The ones you'd write for someone who had your exact day.

1 · WHAT HAPPENED, PLAINLY

2 · WHY IT'S NORMAL FOR ANYONE ACTUALLY TRYING

3 · ONE SMALL THING FOR TOMORROW

YOUR TURN

What was your weather this week?

No wrong answer. Storms pass. Tell me yours.

A Clear. It went to plan.

B Cloudy. Half of it happened.

C Storm. Nothing went right.

D Still raining. Send help.

 Comment A, B, C or D

4 / 4 · PHASR